02 THE PROBLEM · DEVELOPERS

Developers need a partner to pay commission

Paying every broker on time strains their cash flow, and they want someone to carry it.

CASH FLOW

Commission strains cash flow

Paying every broker on time ties up cash the project needs.

WHAT THEY WANT

A partner who pays it

Someone to pay brokers on time, while the developer pays later.

SMALLER DEVELOPERS

Even fewer options

They can't raise funds the way large developers can.

02 THE PROBLEM · BROKERS

Brokers wait 4 to 5 months to be paid for a deal

Work starts in month one, but the commission arrives months after the deal closes.

Starts work on the deal
Month one.

About 2 months

The deal closes
The sale is done.

2 to 3 months

Commission paid
4 to 5 months after starting.

BILLS

Bills don't wait

Rent and bills are due every month while the commission is still pending.

MOVING ON

Stuck where they are

A broker who wants to move agency or leave has to wait until the commission is paid.

Indicative timeline.

02 THE PROBLEM · BROKERAGES

Brokerages can't plan, and can't demand their money

They don't know when the commission will land, and only the biggest can push developers to pay.

PLANNING

Can't plan or grow

With no date for the money, growth plans have to wait.

SMALLER BROKERAGES

Can't demand payment

Bigger brokerages can push developers to pay. Smaller ones can't, and many don't survive.

CAMPAIGNS

Money sooner means more sales

Every brokerage wants the money earlier, to spend more on campaigns and sell more for developers.

03 THE SOLUTION

A finance partner pays the brokerage the same day

Aaronz is the software. The partner approves each invoice, pays from its own account, and the developer repays the partner.

Same day — 30 to 45 days

Developer confirms the commission
The buyer milestone is met.

The partner pays the brokerage
Its own credit decision, from its own account.

The developer repays the partner
The full invoice, on its usual dates.

BROKERAGE · PAYS 18% A YEAR

Paid early

AED 97,780.82

On an AED 100,000 invoice repaid in 45 days.

FINANCE PARTNER · EARNS 12% A YEAR

Keeps its return

AED 1,479.45

After Aaronz's fee, on the same invoice.

AARONZ · 6% A YEAR

A fee, invoiced to the partner

AED 739.73

Plus VAT, once the developer has repaid.

Worked example: AED 100,000 invoice, repaid after 45 days. Rates are a year on the invoice amount for the days funded (actual/365). The money never passes through Aaronz's bank.

04 WHERE WE ARE

We are working out how to allocate funds

For each invoice, our routing rules decide whether it is paid early, and which funder pays it.

Grade

Every developer, on each new invoice, from live payment and sales data.

Route

Each invoice to the funder with room and the best margin.

Pull back

When a developer or the market turns, then recover.

A Pays reliably

Under 4%

chance of a bad outcome

Up to 15% of a funder's money

B Some delays

4% to 8%

Up to 10% of a funder's money

C Often late

Not funded

Draft rules, version 0.1. A bad outcome is paid more than 15 days late, cancelled, or never paid. Every limit is a starting value until we have our own repayment history.
